(5) protections of citizens' civil rights and individual privileges necessitate policy development of protections preventing the unauthorized use of DNA and the use of DNA for discriminatory purposes; and

Declares an intent that all terms and conditions of an offender's supervision in the community, including the length of supervision and payment of legal financial obligations, not be curtailed by an offender's absence from supervision for any reason including confinement in any correctional institution.

Declares that persons appointed as special deputies under RCW 72.09.050 shall be limited in their authority as special deputies to arrest and detention of individuals in state correctional facilities, as defined in RCW 9.94.049.

Provides that, immediately following an arrest and detention the superintendent, or his or her designee, shall:

SB 6498-S by Senate Committee on Human Services & Corrections (originally sponsored by Senators McCaslin, Franklin and Costa)

Providing a procedure to conduct DNA testing of evidence for convicted offenders.

(DIGEST OF PROPOSED 1ST SUBSTITUTE)

Provides that, on or before December 31, 2002, a person convicted in this state may submit a request to the county prosecutor in the county where the conviction was obtained for postconviction DNA testing, if DNA evidence was not admitted because the court ruled DNA testing did not meet acceptable scientific standards or DNA testing technology was not sufficiently developed to test the DNA evidence in the case. On and after January 1, 2003, a person must raise the DNA issues at trial or on appeal.

Provides that any person who the court determines to be indigent shall be appointed counsel. The costs of DNA testing shall be paid for any indigent person who obtains an order for DNA testing under chapter 10.73 RCW.

SB 6781-S by Senate Committee on Agriculture & Rural Economic Development (originally sponsored by Senators Rasmussen and Morton)

Modifying provisions concerning the management of dairy nutrients.

(DIGEST OF PROPOSED 1ST SUBSTITUTE)

Finds that: (1) Complying with the laws regarding dairy nutrient management is a burdensome yet laudable task that the dairy farmers of this state have undertaken;

(2) the dairy nutrient management standards and specifications of the natural resources conservation service were the most rigorous in the nation when the dairy nutrient management act was enacted in 1998;

(3) those standards, as they existed in 1998, continue to be appropriate standards for proper management of dairy nutrients, despite modification by the natural resources conservation service since 1998;

(4) dairy farmers cannot comply with constantly changing requirements. The uncertainty constant change creates is an unnecessary drain on limited resources; and

(5) if management standards change substantively, there should be a method for all parties concerned with proper dairy nutrient management to consider and implement changes without causing disruption, uncertainty, or an unnecessary drain on resources.

Finds that these agreements will provide a means to address issues of alcohol on reservations, maintain revenue for essential government services, maintain jobs in local communities, and strengthen the relationship between Indian tribes and the state of Washington.
